Boogie Woogie Bugle Boy

Reading, Pennsylvania native, Theresa Eaman has been performing jazz standards since her early teens. Although a classically trained vocalist, Theresa has since branched off to specialize in jazz standards and re-enacting the music of the World War II era. A life time of appreciation of all the vocal "masters" has enabled Theresa to present the listener with renditions of their favorite songs that feature the stylings of the original recordings, while incorporating her own personal touches. Her performances celebrate eras where music made people laugh, cry and fall in love.

Miss Eaman has performed in New York City, NY, San Diego, CA and throughout Pennsylvania and Idaho, where she currently resides. Theresa is the featured vocalist at the Mid Atlantic Air Museum's World War II World War Weekend in Reading, PA every year, entertaining over 30,000 attendees over the course of three days each June. Miss Eaman will be appearing for the first time at the Warbirds Over the Beach Airshow at the Virginia Beach Airport on the weekend of May 16-17, 2009. She will be joining forces with Bill Riley, Joe Ziegler Jason Crutchley, better known as The Ultimate Abbott and Costello Tribute Show, to take you back to an era worth revisiting!
